

Truth Nuggets Love, the Nuclear Option

In a close relationship (like a marriage), whenever the two start locking horns, both are getting robbed of the fullness of life that they were designed to have. Frustration with the situation typically turns to human reasoning to block the stalemate. But when reasoning, compromise, bribes, intimidation, etc fail, then maybe the only option is nuclear. That means pulling out the most powerful weapon.

What's that? No, it's not divorce. The Scriptures define it as "LOVE," but not human love, which rarely fills our cup, but Yahovah's love, which overflows with plenty for all.

This favorite poem sums it up. I've known it for decades, but never found its author.

*Heretic, rebel, a thing to flout,
She drew a circle that cut me out.*

*But love & I had the wit to win!
We drew a bigger circle that took her in!*

In summary, get your need for love from your personal walk with our Messiah, Yahshua. Draw from him and let His Spirit fill you to the point where you overflow with the fruit of the Spirit, the first & most important of which is love. Then the overflow of love from within will flow out to heal a hurting creation, starting with the primary mission field, the covenant marriage partner.

In closing, a personal note. We will not be writing any more truth nuggets for some time. I must meet a publishing deadline for a book that I'm writing. Once it becomes available, we seek to return, with the first return truth nugget being a book review of the mystery book.

Eric & Mary Elizabeth Ellis
Easton, Maine
ericjellis@protonmail.com